

Hit Engineer's Testimony

LEMONT -- The Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals met Monday night in the Lemont Village Hall before a standing room only crowd of more than 100 interested citizens.

A proposed landfill project at the Mt. Vernon Memorial Hills Cemetery has brought on strong opposition from residents of the vicinity and the owners of Cog Hill golf course. Howard Smith, an attorney, representing those opposed to the landfill project questioned the testimony of Robert E. Hamilton, a Joliet sanitary engineer.

Hamilton, a witness for proponents of the landfill was cross-examined by Smith who seemed well prepared for the testimony of expert witnesses presented by the opposition. Under Smith's questioning, Hamilton admitted that his original testimony stating that only 60 acres of the slough area of 250 acres would be filled was somewhat faulty.

Hamilton conceded that approximately 65 acres would be filled in an actual area of approximately 200 acres.

Smith brought out the fact that some 50 acres comprised an area known as the Bell Road slough and that this area filled rapidly during spring rains and the accumulated runoff of winter snow. This would prohibit any "ponding" or retention area for water now running into the entire slough area.

Elimination of this 50-acre area left only 200 acres of slough area useable for runoff. Hamilton's admission that "possibly" 65 acres would be involved in the landfill would mean that only 140 acres would remain to hold the accumulated runoff of some 750 acres. Smith did not elaborate on the obvious implication of such a situation.

Under further questioning Hamilton stated that he had been to the slough area on "about four occasions." Smith also asked whether Hamilton was familiar with the Joe Dominick farm which is adjacent to the proposed landfill area. Hamilton's response was in the negative. When asked if he had any knowledge regarding use of that property he admitted he had none. Smith then stated that the farm had been continually in crops for about 65 years and sought to determine what, if any, results would be seen if the proposed landfill was carried through.

Hamilton stated the opinion that he thought very little if any additional runoff would carryover to the farm property. It was his contention that a proposed ditch along the northern perimeter of the landfill area would handle the increased runoff in combination with tile already beneath the ground in that area. Smith did not pursue the line of questioning although he did question the extent of tile still in good condition in that area.

2 Fathers Dead; Cite Speed

MOKENA -- Two men are dead and six children are fatherless as a result of a two car collision last Thursday afternoon (Nov. 13) at the intersection of Wolf Rd. and 187th St., about a half a mile north of Mokena.

Dead are, Gordon Eugene Zortman, 31, Sauk Trail, Frankfort, a foreman for Sager Industries at Frankfort, and Richard J. Lutz, 49, of 2009 Glenview, Park Ridge, Ill. Mr. Lutz, a manufacturer's representative, headed his own company, Lutz Sales.

According to Mokena Police Chief Wayne Ryder, who with county police investigated the accident, no witnesses have been found that saw the actual impact.

Investigators found that Mr. Lutz had been attending a business meeting at Kankakee and was presumably enroute home. It was believed he was traveling north on Wolf Rd. Mr. Zortman had attended a funeral at Lockport, at which he had served as a pallbearer, and was presumed to be enroute to Frankfort. Investigators believe he was traveling east on 187th street.

"Speed was a major factor in this crash," Chief Ryder said. "You can say speed left six children fatherless."

Mr. Zortman had two children; Mr. Lutz four.

All-Business Taxes Asked

LOCKPORT -- A city license for every concern doing business within the city limits was proposed by Mayor George Nordstrom at the Monday night meeting of the Lockport City Council.

No immediate action was taken on the proposal, but councilmen were favorable to the taxation.

Juke boxes and cigarette machines were mentioned as two of the more profitable businesses not paying any monies into the city coffers. Gasoline stations and restaurants also were discussed with some councilmen noting there were restaurants in the city making a larger margin of profit than some bars which are taxed $1,000 per year.

The mayor, obviously warmed by the acceptance of his proposal, said he would have facts and figures to present at their next meeting.

Research into taxing and licensing policies in other area cities will be a basis on which to set up the licensing fees for Lockport businesses.

Nordstrom noted that any business which could not afford a $25 license is not worthy of itself. The question of "backyard" businesses and rooming houses was mentioned, but no answers were forthcoming.

No mention of what specific needs there were for the money was made. Nordstrom though, made it clear the city could use the money.

A summary version of the liquor license ordinance was discussed with no action taken. Harry Houlihan appeared requesting a license to sell packaged liquor.

At present the city has no license permitting only packaged liquor sales. An amendment of the present ordinance would be needed to limit the packaged liquor business to this type of sale.

Convention Attendance Bids Killed

LOCKPORT -- Attendance at National Conventions by District 205 department heads was once again a subject of considerable discussion at the 205 school board meeting, Thursday, Nov. 13.

Board member Mrs. Joan Straka stated, "Our backs are against the wall." She added that the board does not want to deny any teacher the right to attend national conventions, but that they simply do not have the money.

Convention attendance has been discussed at length by the board at its last several meetings. They have repeatedly expressed the desire to send teachers. But, several motions suggesting a plan to do this have been defeated.

Four thousand dollars was allotted in this year's budget for convention expenses, both in-state and national. Much of this money has already been spent for in-state meetings.

Harold Scholle, superintendent, stated that he has received approximately 61 requests from department heads asking to attend national meetings pertaining to their fields. The question is not whether attendance will be allowed, but rather how it will be funded.

Board member William Waldon made a motion to call the amount budgeted for national conventions an error, and close that account until the next school year, but failed to receive a second.

He then altered his motion to read that all requests for national conventions for 1969-70 be denied.

Mrs. Straka seconded the motion, with the understanding that it was so stated because of complete lack of funds. The motion was defeated 5-2, with only Mrs. Straka and Waldon voting yes.

Felix Borio then made a motion to allow attendance, which would be funded by transferring funds from the contingency fund. He further stated that in all probability the district would be out of money entirely by March 1, and that the board would do "what we have to do" at that time.

He also failed to receive a second, and finally the matter was referred to the personnel and policy committee, headed by Steve Platko.

Frank Lynch, board member, stated that unfortunately this postpones the decision once again, but that it would at least insure a thorough look at the problem.

In other business, the board ratified the professional working agreement which was recently reached by the board and the LTO, with the understanding that the section on retirement pay would not become effective until there has been a favorable court ruling.

Leonard Moore, president of the LTO, said that his members understood this factor, and thanked the board members and the superintendent for all the time which has been spent in working out this agreement. After he signed the contracts, he said it would "go a long way in helping the morale of the teachers."

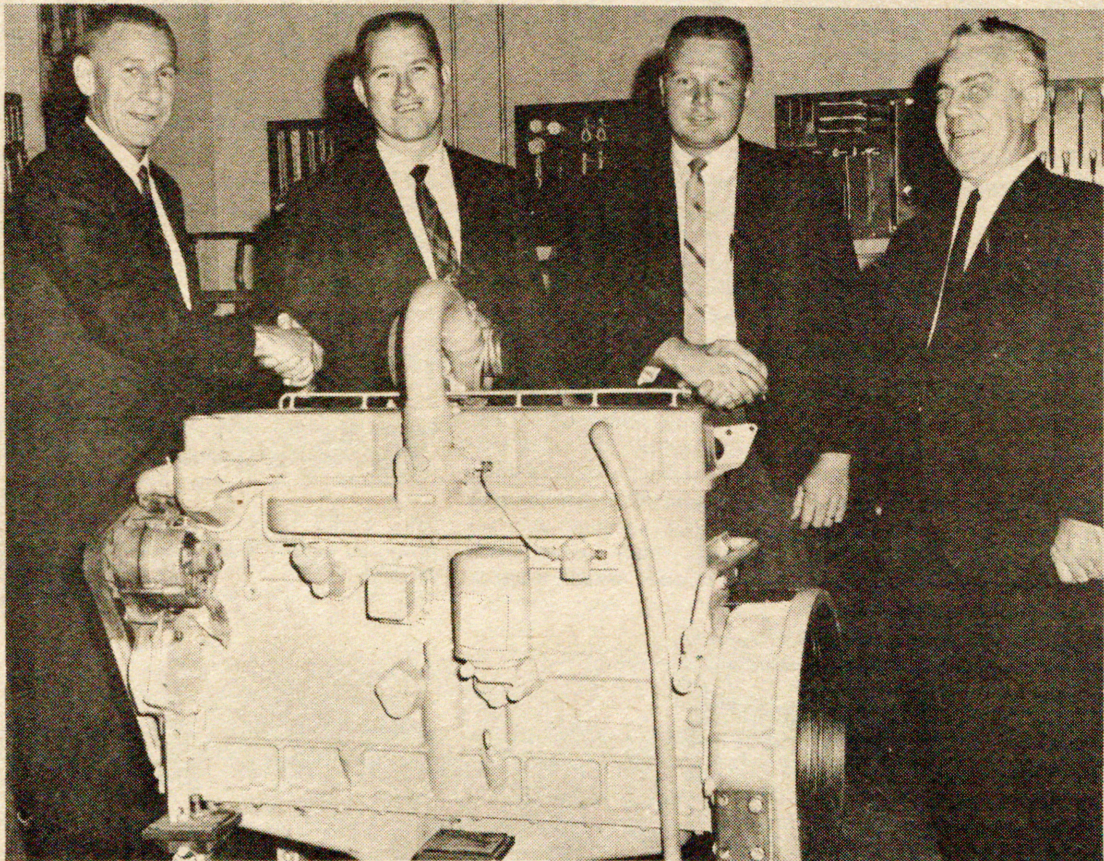

The board went into executive session to discuss the expulsion of two male students, one from Lockport West, and one from Lockport Central. Following the session, they voted to accept the superintendent's recommendation to expel the two youths.

It was recommended that one of the boys be put in contact with the school social worker, and the other be given the opportunity to attend night school in order to earn credits toward his graduation.

The board also accepted the resignation of Robert Faulkner, a guidance counselor at Lockport West, effective Jan. 17, 1970.

The meeting adjourned at 12:55 a.m.

Select Slate For Voting

LEMONT -- Nominations for a slate of officers for 1970 were made last Friday by the White Eagle Social Club at their Lemont Clubrooms. Peter Kluge, president, presided over the meeting.

Kluge, following regular business, called on the nominating committee of George Barry, Ed Shafranski and Louis Hoinacki for a report.

Thirty ballots were cast and nominees receiving the majority of votes were Peter

Kluge, president; John Wojciechowski, first vice president; Sam Kedzierski, second vice president; Michael Kendzierski, treasurer; Casmir Kluga, recording secretary; Leo Barry and Walter Slabosewski in a tie vote for financial secretary; Frank Wojnowski, sergeant at arms; and Edward Sedowski, Ray Lech and Elmer Nowak as trustees.

The general election and convention meeting will be Sunday afternoon, Dec. 7. Ballots will be prepared for one slate, and there will be a space for write-in candidates. This course will be taken, Kluge said, because of the large number of votes for all on the slate for nomination.

Kluge expressed thanks for the "great enthusiasm shown for the nominations by the members and the cooperation for the betterment of the organization. The members have shown their spirit and the importance of voting in the club and in the country."

The meeting closed with singing of "God Bless America."

Worthy Boy Or Girl Is Sought

LEMONT -- Organizations in Lemont Township have been given an opportunity to help reward a deserving boy or girl.

The Lemont Chamber of Commerce has announced plans for a "That's Our Boy (or Girl)" award to be made at the chamber's annual dinner in January. Letters to area organizations have been sent.

Outlined in the letter are requirements for nomination of persons for consideration in the contest.

Contestants must live in Lemont Township and the organizations submitting names must feel the person is worthy on the basis of outstanding community work, heroism, activity in charitable work, patriotism or other characteristics.

The person nominated need not be a member of the organization and there is no age limit.

An independent group will conduct the judging and a permanent plaque will be given. Entries in resume form are due Jan. 1 and can be sent to P.O. Box 83, Lemont.

Buying Furniture For Chelsea's New Library

FRANKFORT -- Brunswick Corp., one of three bidders, has been awarded the contract for furnishing the learning center of the new addition to Chelsea School. The Brunswick bid was $4,690.50. Other bidders were J.S. Latta & Son and Prairie State Equipment.

"Learning center," is one of those terms that pop up in the vocabulary used in educational circles, and means a sort of glorified library that is equipped so it can be utilized for a study hall or a classroom if necessary.

Supt. Leroy M. Olson will attend the next meeting of the Frankfort park board as representative of the school board. The two bodies are studying ways and means they can cooperate and utilize the facilities and personnel of each.

In compliance with a new state law the superintendent has been instructed by the board to write to parents and explain the sex education program offered in the school and ask whether they wish their children to be enrolled for this course. Formerly the course could be given without parental approval. The new law requires such approval be obtained by a school.

Kenneth Oetter is attending the Illinois Association of School Boards convention at Chicago this week as a delegate from the Frankfort board.

9 Are Elected

LEMONT -- The Lemont Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors for 1970 has been formed with the recent election of nine new directors.

Elected to the board were John Kickels, Continental Distilling Sales Co.; Joseph Wohead, Wohead Builders; Ralph Shroyer, Maynards Garden Center; Urban Gerharz, Jr., Gerharz Funeral Home; Harry Laubhan, D & M Motors; and Cas Prybysz, Lemont Jewelers.

These nine will serve with nine other members whose terms do not expire this year. The 18 men will comprise the 1970 board.

Robert Gorski, chamber president, said the "interest in the community of Lemont by business leaders was apparent by the willingness of individuals to allow their names to be placed in nomination for the board openings.

"The realization of individuals of business, industry and the professions of the need to become actively involved in the many complex problems of our day was shown by the interest in the election."

Get U. S. 45 Re-surfacing Bids

SPRINGFIELD--Crown Trygg Corp., a paving firm, of Joliet was low bidder on re-surfacing of U.S. 45 between I-80 and U. S. 30. Bids totaling $83,616.909 were received here Nov. 14 by the Illinois division of highways on the 1969 road program.

The Crown-Trygg bid on the blacktop job on U. S. 45 from 191st St. to Lincoln Highway -- 2.19 miles -- was $239,841.

This apparently settles the question, for the present at least, of whether U.S. 45 is to be widened between U.S. 30 and I-80. The bid covers only re-surfacing and no other work was advertised.

Board Appoints Men

MOKENA -- James Clarage, of Lockport, has been retained by the Mokena village board as its planning consultant. Clarage has his own business charting the growth and development of communities and will be available to help various local committees solve such problems.

Mayor Will Tuttle appointed three men to serve on the Mokena planning commission, Cadet Cottingham, Louis Richards and John O'Reilly. Each was appointed for a three-year term. The appointments were confirmed by the board.

Trustees Chester Ebert and Kenneth Warning were appointed to make a final inspection of Front St. paving project between Division and Schoolhouse Rd. Crown-Trygg Co., which had the paving contract, is seeking final payment for the work.

Holiday Hours

LEMONT -- E. J. Shafranski, Lemont postmaster, has announced Thanksgiving holiday schedules.

Thursday, Nov. 27, will be observed at this office as a Thanksgiving Day holiday. There will be no delivery of mail by city or rural carriers and the stamp window will be closed.

For the convenience of the post office box holders, the lobby will be open from 6 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Special delivery service will be provided.

About $8,000 is due and before it can be paid the board must approve the job.

Fire Chief Robert Rust, who recently was named director of civil defense for Mokena, has resigned that post.

Discuss North-South Freeway Route

SOUTHWEST -- Location of the north and south leg of a proposed southwest suburban freeway with reference to Mokena and Frankfort was discussed at a meeting in Chicago last Thursday which was attended by representatives of both communities.

On the previous Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the Mokena village board the trustees went on record as favoring carrying the highway west of Mokena, in the vicinity of the New Lenox-Frankfort town road.

A few weeks ago at a meeting of the Frankfort village board Burton Breidert, chairman of the Frankfort planning commission told the trustees that the commission favored bringing the freeway east of Wolf Rd. and close to the western edge of Frankfort.

If this course were followed, it was brought out, the freeway would pass Mokena to the east, somewhere in the vicinity of 108th Av.

Mayor Will Tuttle, who represented the Mokena board, at the Thursday hearing in Chicago, told state highway people that his board was opposed to the east side route. This would cut directly through what he termed as prime industrial sites.

He also pointed out that if there were an interchange this would benefit New Lenox and Frankfort too.

The freeways are supposed to have interchanges with the major expressways and the major highways.

Breidert pointed out at the hearing that Frankfort should have an interchange at U.S. 30, that the people there have to travel too far to reach an expressway.

Mokena officials contend that it is not much further from U.S. 30 to I-80 on U.S.

too much of the land would be taken for it. If there were no interchange there with I-80 -- and he felt that the state would not want to put another interchange that close to the one on U.S. 45 -- the freeway would be of little use to Mokena.

Tuttle figures that if the freeway were to be run west of Mokena there was more likelihood of getting an interchange there and he feels 45 than it is from Wolf Rd. and Front St. to that interchange. It is some two and a half miles from Mokena to the U.S. 45 interchange.

Mayor Tuttle said that it will likely be sometime before the state reaches any decision as to what route the freeway will follow and in the meantime he is hopeful that the boards of Mokena, Frankfort and New Lenox will reach an agreement that will be beneficial to all three.

Reveal Busing Totals

LOCKPORT -- Tom Wilson, district 205 board member, reported the results of a transportation study recently undertaken by his committee, at the Thursday night board meeting.

At the time the contract was originally signed, the quoted price for transportation was $132,000 per year. This included 25 buses, which would cover a maximum of 50 miles per day at $30 per bus, and transport 2,900 students.

The estimated cost for transporting students for 1969-70 is in excess of $230,000. Wilson said that the modified shifts are partly responsible, as well as increased population at Lockport Central and East High Schools.

There are currently 31 buses in operation in the district; fifteen at $30 per day; nine, which make 14 trips a day, at $75, and a few at $15 per day. The total cost to the district is approximately $1,295 per day for transportation. This does not include any extra-curricular activities or trips involving sports.

Melvin Smith, assistant superintendent, said that approximately 3,100 students are currently riding the bus.

Street Work Hearings Set For Monday

LEMONT - A public hearing will be held Nov. 24 at 9 p.m., at the regular meeting of the Lemont Village Board, to air the pros and cons concerning special assessments in the amount of $28,990.

Assessments of $18,855 and $10,135 were approved at a Sept. 22 meeting of the board to facilitate installation of curbs and gutters on Peiffer Street, extending from Walter Street South to Warner Street.

Roadways of intersecting streets and alleys are included, from the south curb-line to the south line of Peiffer.

Also included, as a second portion of the total assessment, is Warner Street, south to Peiffer and roadways of intersecting streets to a point 390 feet north of Peiffer.

Improvements will include curbing, paving of streets, draining and grading. A total of 21 property owners would pay about $2,000 each under the special assessments.

Mayor John Kujawa noted that the public hearing will not bind the board. Overall village progress will be the criteria for determining whether the improvements will be carried out. Art Nagel and Harry Mentch, trustees, will present total cost figures as given by A. Schudt and Associates, village engineers.

Also at the Nov. 10 meeting of the board passed an ordinance prohibiting truck parking on Lemont streets between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m.

Lane markers will be installed on Stephen Street near the school and curve on State Street at a cost of $1,000. The markers will be steel with built-in reflectors. The markers are expected to last much longer than double striping at only a slight increase to initial expenditure.

The Lemont Village Hall will be open for voters to register Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. These hours will extend from Thursday, Nov. 20 to Jan. 20, 1970.

Cash Vote Is Dec. 16

LOCKPORT -- At their regularly scheduled meeting, the Lockport Township High School District 205 Board of Education unanimously adopted a resolution to present a referendum to the voters on Tuesday, Dec. 16, 1969. After several months of research, planning, investigating and analysis, the board has developed an in depth picture of the projected needs of the district.

As previously reported in this newspaper, the current district problems show 1,200 students over capacity, $1,700,000 shortage of operating expenses, and a projection of 480 additional students next year.

These facts mean that all schools will be on a double shift schedule next fall, unless facilities are provided through the referendum. It also means that the district will run out of money in March, 1970, unless new educational funds are provided via a successful referendum.

The referendum proposal calls for the following provisions to meet increased enrollment needs:

1. East High School - increase academic and core facilities by 700 so that it will house 1500 students. This will be grades 10 to 12, and Central will be used as a freshman center.
2. West High School - increase academic and core facilities by 1,000 to house a total school of 2,200.
3. New high school - to be developed in the Bolingbrook area north of I-55 with access to Route 53. The initial building will provide housing for 1,100 students and core facilities, for over twice that amount.

This proposal will increase capacity by 2,800 students, including the purchase of a new site, at a cost of $7.9 million.

The second phase of the referendum evolves around the Educational Fund. As indicated previously, the district will run out of money in March, 1970, with a deficit spending figure of $1,700,000.

Three previous unsuccessful referenda to increase the education tax rate, which has never been above the state minimum, have been defeated and greatly enhanced the inevitable current distress position. In order to balance expenditures for this year a rate increase of 52¢ will be required, which is all that is being sought in this referendum.

Practice Care

Car stalling time is practically upon us again. With winter just down the road a short piece the prudent automobile owner will stir himself to make certain that his car is prepared for cold weather.

In a recent publicity release the Chicago Motor Club sums it up briefly and to the point. It takes more than anti-freeze to make a car ready for winter driving, the club bulletin says.

Stalled car problems have rivaled the common cold as the most frequent winter-time misery, according to John H. Struben, head of the club's emergency road service. And he attributes this to the fact that too many motorists believe that if their car radiator tests to 30 or 40 below zero the car is ready for all the trials of winter driving.

If you haven't had your car conditioned for the cold weather you'd better get at it. Don't wait until winter comes riding in on a storm and then go rushing to a garage or service station to have things done then that should be taken care of now.

The basic causes for failure of cars to start in low temperatures, Struben emphasizes, are lack of battery power and stiff engine oil.

Car owners not sure of what is involved in proper conditioning of cars for winter should give heed to Struben's recommendations. Here is his checklist:

-- Drain and flush the radiator at two-year intervals; tighten hose clamps and replace soft or rotted hose to prevent loss of anti-freeze; add permanent anti-freeze to guard against rust and evaporation.

-- Give engine a thorough tune-up, including check of alternator, distributor points and timing; cleaning or replacing spark plugs; adjustment of carburetor.

-- Test battery for full charge; clean terminals and make sure cables are tight.

-- Check fuel pump; fill crank case with winter-grade or all-weather oil; grease chassis; check fluid level in transmission, differential and power-operated units.

-- Apply graphite to all locks to keep them from freezing; check the defroster; replace ineffective windshield wiper blades; add anti-freeze solvent to automatic windshield washer reservoir.

-- Be sure brakes are equalized.

-- Check shock absorbers.

All those things should enable you to get the car started. To keep it going when roads are covered with snow, ice or slush better have snow tires and a set of chains are fine when the going is really tough.

War Prisoners' Rights

U.S. servicemen fortunate enough to win their way back to freedom from North Vietnamese detention have affirmed that prisoners are often subjected to unspeakable abuses and torture.

Recent action of the American Red Cross to intensify efforts open channels of communication and relief to U.S. servicemen being held as prisoners of war in North Vietnam is highlighted in the approval of a resolution adopted by representatives of 77 governments and 91 national Red Cross societies, urging that prisoners of war be given the benefits and protection of the Geneva Conventions.

This means, as Senator Fulbright of Arkansas observes: "Irrespective of the nature of the conflict which gives rise to his imprisonment a captor should be mindful, in the words of the Convention, that a prisoner is in the hands of a detaining power 'as a result of circumstances independent of his own will.' He should, as recited in the International Red Cross Conference resolution, be promptly identified; afforded an adequate diet and medical care; permitted to communicate with other prisoners and with the exterior; promptly repatriated if seriously sick or wounded; and at all times be protected from abuse or reprisals. And, as specifically prescribed in the Convention, a neutral intermediary such as the International Committee of the Red Cross should be afforded free access to prisoners of war and their places of detention."

Demonstrations that call for the precipitate flight of U.S. forces from Vietnam give no thought to the plight of those left behind -- including U.S. prisoners of war.

Test Of Generosity

According to "South," The News Magazine of Dixie, "There are 100 taxes on an egg, 150 on a woman's hat, 151 on a loaf of bread, and 600 on a house. But our national debt has soared to $360 billion -- and Representative Otto E. Passman of Louisiana figures it now exceeds by $43 billion the total debt of all other free nations.

"As inflation continues to take its sharp bite, Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans points out that it stems primarily from $50 billion in government deficits over the past five years. 'During that period,' he says, 'the country was deluded into thinking we could somehow get more out of the economy than the economy could produce. All we had to do was spend more money. This delusion has now collided with reality."

As the delusion that government hand-outs are free is stripped away, the true generosity of voters and taxpayers will be put to a severe test -- along with their foresight. Will welfare programs seem as attractive when they are adorned with price tags that hit every pocketbook? Will the people have the wisdom to support essential defense spending at the cost of personal sacrifice? The way in which taxpayers resolve these questions will determine the future course and strength of the nation.

Dist. 205 Referendum

Tax Dollars To Best Use, Scholle Says

By HAROLD SCHOLLE

I would first like to thank the Southwest Graphic for the offer to use their paper as a communication tool. There are undoubtedly many readers with specific questions about the upcoming educational referendum in High School District 205 and I appreciate the opportunity to answer these questions.

The school board and I feel that if the people within the district know the facts about our school situation, our student needs and benefits, they will support the referendum. We hope your readers will follow the questions and answers so they will know how and why they should vote.

The very first question comes from a lady with five children. She is concerned about good schools for her youngsters and efficient use of her tax dollars.

The school board and the administration have spent a good deal of time already in their investigation and examination of the data available. Probably the most important item is school enrollment. In just the last seven years, our school enrollment has almost doubled.

We now have 3,869 students in our district. One of the fundamentals of a good school is to have enough classrooms for students. We are near 1,200 students over capacity. Because we do not have enough classrooms, we have been forced to extend the length of the school day and reduce the time students are in school at West; at East, we are busing students to less-crowded Central.

Next year we are expecting an additional 480 students and the crowded situation will be even worse. We need more classrooms right now, but first we must pass the referendum to provide them.

With regard to tax dollars it can only be said that the board is planning the use of their very own tax dollars as well as planning for the tax dollars of many other people. The board uses caution and extreme care with money to gain a full dollar of value for every dollar spent for the education of youngsters. The school ad-for you to send questions about a Dec. 16 referendum for School District 205 to Harold Scholle superintendent.

THERE'S STILL TIME

Scholle will answer as many questions as space permits in the pages of the Southwest Graphic.

Questions should be brief and can be mailed or dropped at the Lockport office of the Southwest Graphic, 1022 State St., Lockport, 60441.

No personal replies will be made and letters need not be signed.

ministration is likewise concerned that opportunity for youngsters is the result of every dollar spent. Another question asked concerned the rumor that the schools will close on March 1. Unfortunately, our financial position is so bad that we will run out of dollars about March 1. The school board has already borrowed all the money that can be borrowed through tax anticipation warrants. If we pass the referendum, we will be able to get more money on the new rate, and squeeze by until taxes are received in July.

If the referendum fails, the school board will be faced with the decision of either closing the school until the next year's tax money comes in or of keeping the school open only by selling script.

Neither closing the school for a while or selling script is a very good business educationally or financially for a school district. We need to pass the referendum on Tuesday, Dec. 16, to solve our present crisis and to provide means of implementing for the future.

'Up and Down' Drugs Really Powerful Pills

YOU CAN GET HOOKED ON THEM WITHOUT KNOWING IT AS YOU 'RELAX'

Second In A Series

Amphetamines and barbiturates are the "up and down" drugs, usually taken in pill form.

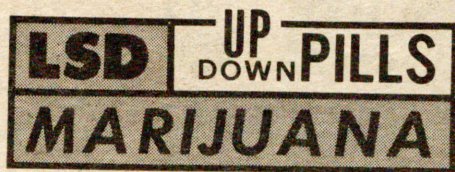

They are said to "pick you up when you're down and bring you down when you're up." For most people, amphetamines do have exhilarating effects, while barbiturates bring calming.

They are powerful drugs, too powerful to play around with. Yet too many people are doing so. No one knows how many, but the best estimates are that about 200,000 -- and perhaps as many as 400,000 -- persons regularly abuse these and other non-narcotic drugs.

Mary takes amphetamines to get going and barbiturates to put her to sleep. She does this day in and out. She takes the "up and down" pills without the supervision of her family doctor.

Mary is -- or is on the way to being -- a slave of these drugs, addicted to them, a "junky" as the slang goes. What is worse, she doesn't know it. She doesn't know facts she needs to know, like these:

The "up drugs," pep pills also called "bennies" and "speed," are a group of drugs known as amphetamines. They form one-half of what is perhaps the biggest part of the drug abuse problem in the U.S. today.

The other half of the problem are the "down drugs" -- sedatives, sleeping pills, the large family of drugs made for medical purposes to relax a person.

What do the "down drugs" do?

They produce a relaxing effect for most people; in normal, medically supervised doses, they mildly depress the action of the nerves, skeletal muscles, and heart muscle. In abnormal doses, the effects resemble alcoholic drunkenness.

Are these drugs addicting?

The amphetamines or "up drugs" produce "psychological" dependence -- a practice that can become a habit for mental or emotional reasons.

The "down drugs," barbiturates usually, are physically addicting. Some experts consider barbiturate addiction more difficult to cure than dependency upon a narcotic like heroin or cocaine.

Are these drugs dangerous to use?

They have definite medical and health values if properly used under a physician's direction.

None is properly available without a physician's prescription. This is for the very good reason that their misuse or abuse can be dangerous.

Barbiturates are a leading cause of accidental poison deaths. Sleeping pills distort how people see things; they slow down reactions and responses. They are an important cause of automobile accidents.

Amphetamines misused can lead to accidental deaths and to accidents because they can distort perception, judgment, and even cause severe mental derangement.

Questions, Answers To Lottery Plan Proposals

MAXIMUM ELIGIBILITY WOULD LAST ONLY A YEAR, BEGINNING AT 19

By PETER HARKNESS

(Copyright 1969, Congressional Quarterly, Inc.)

President Nixon's proposals to change the military draft law are now before Congress.

Here are answers to questions about Mr. Nixon's lottery plan and other key proposals.

Q -- Why is the President making some changes by Executive action, but asking Congress to enact the lottery?

A -- The 1967 draft law prohibits the President from changing the method by which draft registrants are chosen for service without first obtaining authority from Congress. Mr. Nixon has asked Congress to repeal that provision and restore the authority the President had before the 1967 amendments to the draft law.

Q -- Under the lottery proposal, how long would a young man be eligible for the draft?

A -- The period of prime draft eligibility would be reduced from seven years to one year. Now, a registrant is eligible from the time he is 18½ until his 26th birthday. Under the new plan, his period of maximum eligibility would begin on his 19th birthday and end on his 20th.

Q -- What if a young man is not chosen during his one year in the prime age group?

A -- Youths not drafted during those 12 months would be assigned a lower priority and would be called up only in the case of an emergency.

Q -- How does the lottery system work?

A -- Prior to each calendar year, all the dates of that year (365 or 366 in a leap year) would be scrambled and drawn at random. For instance, July 31 could be drawn first, Oct. 5 second Jan. 18 third. Those whose birthdays fell on July 31 then would be most draft-eligible; those on Oct. 5 would be second; those on Jan. 18 third and so on through the other days of the year.

Once a registrant's place in the sequence is determined, it would not change. Each month, his local draft board would induct registrants in the order of call established by the lottery. A young man would have some idea of his relative susceptibility to the draft merely by examining where his birth date fell in the lottery.

Q -- What about young men who obtain student or occupational deferments? Are they exempt from the draft after their 20th birthdays?

A -- No. If a young man were granted a deferment at age 19 or 20, he would re-enter the prime eligibility pool when the deferment expired. He would take the same place in the order of sequence as he originally was assigned. So those who accepted deferments could be drafted after their 20th birthdays.

Q -- What about men between 20 and 25 years of age and classified I-A during the first year the new system is in effect? Do they avoid the draft?

A -- No. In the first year, these young men would be included in the prime eligibility pool. The pool would be much larger during the first year than in later years and each registrant would have less chance of being chosen.

Q -- Will graduate students be deferred?

A -- No automatically. President Nixon ordered Oct. 5 that graduate students be allowed to finish a full academic year before being drafted. After that they would no longer be eligible for the automatic deferments most undergraduate students receive.

Q -- Would the new system eliminate local draft boards?

A -- No. Local boards would continue to operate in much the same manner, but using a new method of selection. The order of call will apply nationally, but each local board will continue to handle the administrative work and be responsible for granting deferments and exemptions.

Q -- What other reforms has the President promised besides the lottery and prime age group?

A -- The President pledged May 13 to continue undergraduate deferments and allow graduate students to complete their full academic year. In addition, he said he would ask the National Security Council and the Director of Selective Service to review all guidelines, standards and procedures of the draft system as a step toward a more consistent policy of deferments and exemptions.

Q -- What indications are there that the proposed new lottery system would be workable?

A -- In testimony before the House Armed Services Special Subcommittee on the Draft, the Selective Service Director, Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, said his office had conducted a test run of the new "random selection system" and found it to be workable.

Q -- If Congress does not act on the President's draft request this session, what will happen?

A -- The President said Sept. 19 that if Congress failed to act this year, he would institute a lottery system through Executive action himself. But such a system would have to rely on the existing "oldest-first" order of induction which Mr. Nixon has called inadequate. He pledged that all other reforms would be instituted administratively in January 1970.

Get Tough With College Students

NEW LAWS IN ILLINOIS AFFECT LIFE ON CAMPUS

The Illinois legislature has laid down the law to college students -- in fact, several laws.

Essentially, the legislators have told students that they must abide by the same rules of good conduct that apply to the rest of the citizenry, or else.

The "or else" means that students holding state scholarships may lose them if they participate in unlawful disturbances on campus and that to "knowingly interfere with a public institution of higher learning" now is a crime.

That isn't all. Another law passed by the legislature and signed by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie requires all state supported institutions of higher learning to formulate definite policies on campus demonstrations and enforce them. Their plans for carrying out this requirement must be filed with the Governor and with the State Board of Higher Education.

According to the Illinois State Bar Association, still another law makes it possible for campus security personnel to receive training comparable to that given to members of local police departments.

This law extends the jurisdiction of a Local Government Law Enforcement Training Board to include security officers or campus police permanently employed by any participating state controlled university, college or junior college. The Board then may provide the appropriate professional training.

The law concerning scholarships authorizes the chief executive officer of the university in which the student is enrolled to immediately revoke state-provided financial aid to any student who "participates in any disorderly disturbance . . . using means which are not protected by the (U.S. and Illinois) constitutions." No revocations will be made, however, without proper notice, hearings, and other due process procedures.

Prior to this, the primary grounds for revocation of state student assistance were a change in residency, change in financial circumstances, or unsuccessful academic progress.

Under the law, the person who through the use or threat of violence "knowingly interfere(s) with a public institution of higher learning" may be charged with a misdemeanor. Included are persons who: occupy a college building for reasons other than designated; prevent freedom of movement on campus, or disrupt the "pursuit of educational activities by college staff, students and 'invitees' of the school."

Each state school's statement of policy must include specific rules and regulations for maintaining order on campus without infringing on the civil rights of others and rules for withholding of scholarships from violators.

The Meanest Mother

I had the meanest mother in the whole world. While other kids ate candy for breakfast, I had to have cereal, eggs, or toast. When others had cokes and candy for lunch, I had to eat a sandwich. As you can guess, my supper was different from the other kids', too.

But at least I wasn't alone in my sufferings. My sister and two brothers had the same mean mother as I did.

My mother insisted upon knowing where we were at all times. You'd think we were on a chain gang. She had to know who our friends were and what we were doing. She insisted if we said we'd be gone an hour that we be gone one hour or less . . . not one hour and one minute. I am nearly ashamed to admit it, but she actually struck us. Not once, but each time we did as we pleased. Can you imagine someone actually hitting a child just because he disobeyed? Now you can begin to see how mean she really was.

The worst is yet to come. We had to be in bed by nine each night and up early the next morning. We couldn't sleep till noon like our friends. So while they slept, my mother actually had the nerve to break the child-labor law. She made us work. We had to wash dishes, make beds, learn to cook, and all sorts of cruel things. I believe she laid awake at night thinking up mean things to do to us.

She always insisted upon our telling the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, even if it killed us -- and it nearly did.

By the time we were teenagers, she was much wiser, and our life became even more unbearable. None of this tooting the horn of a car for us to come running. She embarrassed us to no end by making our dates and friends come to the door to get us. I forgot to mention, while my friends were dating at the mature age of 12 and 13, my old fashioned mother refused to let me date until the age of 15 and 16.

Fifteen, that is, if you dated only to go to school functions. And that was maybe twice a year . . . My mother was a complete failure as a mother. None of us has ever been arrested, divorced, or beaten his mate. Each of my brothers served his time in the service of this country. And whom do we have to blame for the terrible way we turned out? You're right, our mean mother. Look at all the things we missed. We never got to march in a protest parade, nor to take part in a riot, burn draft cards, and a million and one things that our friends did. She forced us to grow up into God-fearing, educated, honest adults.

Using this as a background, I am trying to raise my three children. I stand a little taller and I am filled with pride when my children call me mean.

Because, you see, I thank God. He gave me the meanest mother in the whole world.

Menage a Trois

Dear Miss Brookfield:

Regarding the Baltimore woman whose husband comes home on weekends and has a mistress in another city during the week: if I were in her shoes I would ask myself if he is affectionate, attentive and genuinely glad to be home? If the answers were in my favor, I would leave well enough alone. Her husband has probably found a woman who possesses qualities she lacks. I would wager that if his wife forced him to give up the other woman, he would be miserable. If she kicked him out and he went to the other woman, he would feel just as miserable. I don't think the situation is too bad. This woman may have a better husband because of it. I would advise her to stick it out.

If you are wondering whether I write from experience, the answer is yes. Only I was the one involved -- not my husband. Those four years were the happiest ones of my marriage. Then the man moved away and we are miserable again. My husband doesn't know why because he had no idea of what was going on. I contend that people need two mates to be happy.

M. A., Boston, Mass.

Dear M.A.:

We think your evidence that a menage a trois makes a marriage happy is weak. Apparently the four-year liaison improved your outlook, but your marriage -- by your own admission -- is in the same state it was before.

Looking Ahead

Dear Miss Brookfield:

I am 46 and feel as if my life has been wasted. I have flitted from one course to another. I studied hair styling, modeling, interior decorating, singing and musical instruments. I found a job, but unfortunately was assigned to just shampooing eight hours a day. Then I underwent a hysterectomy and my doctor told me to give up the job, as he advised against being on my feet all day. When I was in school I had my hair styled and frosted and felt like a new woman. Now I feel like a dumpy housewife and am close to tears when I see the bags under my eyes. I am tired, discouraged, and wish someone could look into the future and predict what's ahead for me. I am childless and married to a wonderful man.

S.M., Hartland, Wis.

Dear S.M.:

Get thee to thy doctor, girl, to see if the fatigue is due to poor diet, anemia, or some other cause. Your "blues" and fatigue may also be the result of an artificial (surgical) menopause, brought on by the operation.

In a recent interview Dr. Stewart Marcus, associate professor of obstetrics and gynecology at Cornell University Medical College, explained that a hysterectomy "usually means the removal of the uterus -- or womb." When only the womb is removed, the ovaries continue to function, providing the body with the female hormone estrogen. No surgical menopause takes place. In some cases, however, the ovaries are also removed, bringing on an artificial menopause. "Today we anticipate these problems by prescribing replacement of estrogen -- beginning at the time of removal of the ovaries. If this is done, there will be no menopausal symptoms," Dr. Marcus said. Unless contraindicated, he noted, estrogen replacement protects the patient from many menopausal symptoms.

A hysterectomy can also have an emotional impact on the woman, particularly as so many associate this surgery with premature aging and loss of attractiveness, according to the gynecologist. These fears, he said, are unfounded.

After seeing your doctor, concentrate first on your physical recovery. Get your hair done, give yourself a facial once in a while, and dry your tears for the sake of that wonderful husband of yours. Ask your doctor if he rules out permanently, or just temporarily, jobs that keep you on your feet all day.

vehicles to leave the pavement and zoom into a field on the east side of Wolf Rd. There is a steep embankment there as Wolf begins climbing to the overpass over I 80. At the foot of the embankment is a broad ditch, with a heavy tangle of grass and weeds. The two cars came to rest on their wheels, the Lutz vehicle farthest north, about 150 yards from the point of impact, according to investigators, and the Zortman car was about 100 yards from that point. The Zortman car was about 100 feet north of 187th, and the other vehicle some 200 feet further north.

Zortman apparently was not wearing a seat belt and in one of the circles his car, a station wagon, must have made, he was hurled out thru a window or possibly the door. His body was found lying in the field. Lutz was wearing a shoulder harness type belt and that and the fact that a portion of the car was wrapped over his legs held him in an upright position. It required Mokena firemen an hour to cut away the car to where the victim could be removed. Both men had broken necks, multiple fractures and probable internal injuries and Coroner Willard G. Blood said they apparently were killed instantly.

The entire left side of the Lutz car was crushed in; it was the front end of the Zortman car that was damaged. Deputy Coroner Eugene Gerardi, of Frankfort Community Chapel, took charge of the bodies and had them removed from the crash scene.

Funeral services for Mr. Zortman were conducted last Saturday from the Hirsch Chapel at Tinley Park to St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Frankfort, with the Rev. La-Vern Smith officiating. Interment was in Pleasant Hill Cemetery, Frankfort. Mr. Zortman was born at Sioux City, Iowa, Nov. 4, 1938, and had been a resident of Frankfort for the past eight years. Besides his wife, the former Judy Hansen, he is survived by two daughters, Jeanene and Nancy; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon M. Zortman, of Burbank, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Bonnie Ingmire, Frankfort, and three brothers, Roger, of Denver, and Jerry and Terry, of Burbank.

His wife, Dolores, two sons and two daughters, and four grandchildren survive.

'Tremendous Strides' Bring Victories

By RUSS SANDBERG
LEMONT -- The football tradition at Lemont High was further enhanced as a result of the fine 7-1 records turned in by both varsity and frosh-soph forces.
This has to be one of our finest seasons when viewed from both levels, for unless my memory has acquired some quirks, I do not ever remember a time when both squads captured top conference laurels during the same season.

There was a time in the not too distant past when it appeared as though the football program could be in jeopardy. Just a scant 5 years ago, I can remember head Coach Jan Cralle coming into my home and conveying the unpleasant news that he had the grand total of 9 men reporting for the opening day of varsity practice.

To say that tremendous strides have been made would be an understatement, for now we suit 36 men, and it is indeed a pleasure just to watch the Indians made their opening appearance on the field.

There can be no doubt that Jan Cralle and Matt Connor have done a tremendous job in bringing about a resurgence that has carried us from the depths of despair to a point whereby we are regarded as a power in Northeast Conference circles.

The same thing also holds true for our frosh-soph forces. Playing under the excellent direction of Bob Voss and Lou Kuk, the local yearlings have now captured their second successive conference title.

WRITER'S REPORT

The days of fielding microscopic sized frosh-soph squads are also a thing of the past, for 45 young men now trot out onto the field to face combat in behalf of Lemont High.

This is indeed a remarkable showing when viewed on a per capita basis, for with a grand total of 81 participants, it means that 1 out of every 3 male students at Lemont High are actively engaged in the football program. I wonder how many other schools can make that statement?

Now it is time to salute the young men who have given so much of themselves toward the betterment of Lemont High football.

On an alphabetical basis, the varsity roster consisted of:

SENIORS - John Benda, Fred Berndt, Dennis Bubinas, Terry Dauenhauer, Richard Gendeman, Michael Henneby, Michael Olinger, Hank Pierce, John Roth, John Schwer, Mark Sniegowski, Pierce Spencer and Lee Virtel.

Wohead, Harold Zarn and Daniel Zolecki.

The SOPHOMORE listing includes: Ronald Paulac, William Benda, Mark Bowman, Glenn Burgermeister, Bruce Campbell, Bert Cattoni, James Clark, Douglas Domagalski, Michael Drafke, John Dunn, James Fischer, Steven Gray, Terry Kennedy, Charles Landgren, Harvey Miller, Tracy Murphy, George Otto, Edward Schultz, Dwayne Slayton, Ronald Smith, Kenneth Sniegowski, James Weck and Roger Winters.

Making up the FRESHMAN contingent were: Mark Affelt, James Anderson, Scott Barnett, Bruce Boehme, Alvin Bromberek, Gary DePaola, Robert Dorris, Terrence Duffy, Joseph Dvorak, John Earnest, Robert Henry, Bruce Kazich, Howard Ludwig, James McCombs, Daniel Milnare, Albon Ramza, Robert Rohder, Robert Smith, Robert Toomer, Robert Ungerer, Steve West and Michael Zurn.

Head Coach Jan Cralle has also asked public thanks for all those who contributed behind the scenes. Their roles are often unsung, but never unappreciated.

VFW Is Booster

LEMONT -- Aubrey M. Oikle, commander of the Lemont VFW Post 5819, recently presented a $200 check to the Pop Warner Football league. Accepting was Ron Nagle, football chairman.

Vivaldelli Plays Soccer, Leads

LEMONT -- Jim Vivaldelli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Vivaldelli of Lemont, is among the 25 members of St. John's University soccer team for this school year.

Jim serves as a player coach, and feels that, even though St. John's lost to Gustavus Adolphus University's team, 4-0 on Saturday, his team was better than the 4-0 shellacking. "We definitely didn't play one of our best defensive games, and the loss of John Cretzmeyer, defensive fullback out with an injured thigh, didn't help matters any.

Jim will return as coach next fall with high hopes of repeating this year's successful season. St. John's losses of not one player, and with a year of playing together under their belt, the team should have an excellent chance of tal in Montreal, Canada, and two years residency in General Surgery at Santa Cabrini Hospital, also in Montreal. He also served an internship at Cook County Hospital in Chicago, and a residency in Obstetrics and Gynecology. He served as Chief resident for one year.

The doctor is a member of the American, Illinois, and Will-Grundy Medical Associations; the American Fertility Society; and is a candidate in the American College of Surgeons.

Chairmen Announced

LEMONT -- Mrs. Walter Tedens, 37 Logan St., has been named as the Lemont Christmas Seal chairman for 1969.

Her appointment was announced this week by John C. Carter, general chairman for the Christmas Seal campaign in Chicago and suburban Cook County.

"Christmas Seals are a symbol of hope and good health," said Mrs. Tedens in urging support for the campaign. "They have helped us to make great progress in the fight against tuberculosis. Today, the victims of emphysema, bronchitis and the hazards of air pollution also look to Christmas Seals for the medical research which will help them to breathe better."

Assisting Mrs. Tedens as co-chairmen for the Lemont seal fund drive will be Mrs.

Glen McAdam, 600 Warner Ave., and Mrs. Edna Nelson, 27 Logan St.

Mrs. Tedens is a member of the American Legion Auxiliary and in the Lemont United Methodist Church where she sings in the choir and is active in the women's group.

A TIME FOR Thanksgiving

A TIME FOR THANKSGIVING -- "Over the river and through the wood, -- to grandmother's house we go."

With the ebbing away of Indian Summer, one of the most joyous of family holidays is upon us. Thanksgiving Day.

A lot of turkeys have gone under the bridge since the over the river to grandmother's house days, however, it still is a grand occasion for the family to get together and give thanks for the things we have and the loved ones with whom we can enjoy the great feast.

"Winters are not what they used to be" is a modern-day bromide we've heard all too often. And it's not true, as anyone can tell you who has had to shovel his way out the past few years. Also the records going back to the 1870's show no drastic variation in the winters of today against those of grandad's day.

But people's thinking about the weather has changed. Grandad, you'll recall, practically gave up when winter rolled around. If he lived on the farm, he went into hibernation, or hitched up Old Nell to the sleigh for transportation. If he was a city man, he locked the buggy in the barn.

Even in the early days of the horseless carriage, the car was jacked up on blocks and left to drowse with the lawn mower and garden tools.

But now, people have learned that winter is pretty much a state of mind.

Today we've become an all-weather race, letting neither howling wind, driving rain or snow, nor severest weather budge us from our chosen course of going over to grandmother's house in the car with the wife and kids, snow tires and all, for the annual Thanksgiving Day with the family.

FOR YOUR GUESTS

Redecorated Bath To Be Shared

Problem: How can a large old-fashioned family bathroom be redecorated so that it can be shared conveniently and comfortably with overnight or vacationing guests?

The Scott Consumer Home Service Center presented this problem to famed interior designer William Pahlman, who came up with a clever solution.

He designed a sunny, up-to-date bathroom which is practical for the family, yet offers a gracious welcome to guests—guests who are just overnight visitors or for vacationing family and friends who need adequate space for their own personal supplies.

Pahlman gave the room two sets of storage shelves and closet space, one for the family, one kept for the visitors. The wall closets and recessed shelves are cleverly arranged to create a dressing table area.

An ambitious do-it-yourselfer could handle the changes since both the wall covering and the dressing table skirt are made from inexpensive cotton fabric. The floor covering, butterscotch color, is a washable vinyl tile.

The basic color scheme chosen was butterscotch, with emerald green as the color accent—the green of Lady Scott facial and matching Lady Scott bathroom tissue, carried out in the face and bath towels.

The tissues are a practical and welcome note, too, for both family and guests. Other color schemes could be adapted, utilizing towels and facial and bathroom tissues with an attractive holder, as the accenting color of camellia pink, persian blue or antique gold.

Chores Will Give A Nicer Lawn

You have a few final chores to do if you want less work and a nicer lawn in the spring.

Keep cutting the lawn as long as it requires it. If you do not, there will be a considerable amount of dead grass to rake out in the spring.

Remove all leaves. Disease problems are greater if leaves are left to get soaked and matted on the lawn. The matted leaves prevent air circulation which creates a humid condition for several grass diseases, especially snowmold.

Look for evidence of Powdery mildew. This disease is prevalent in the fall and if severe will kill newly seeded lawns. Symptoms are a white flour or lime-like on the grass. However, effective control can be achieved by an application of karathane. Use at manufacturers recommended rates.

After the lawn has been looked after, it is a good idea to take time to care for your mower. First drain the oil from the mower and replace it with new oil. Circulate the new oil by running the mower on a nearly empty tank until it stops. This will dry the tank, fuel lines and carburetor and thus avoid a gummy deposit that makes spring starting difficult.

Then remove spark plug and pour in a tablespoon of oil, pull starter cord to coat cylinder and valves and replace spark plug.

Finally clean air filters, sharpen blades and cover the exhaust pipe with a tin can.

Provide Farmers Credit

Illinois banks were providing farmers with more credit and other financial services than any other lenders at the beginning of this year, according to the Illinois Bankers Association.

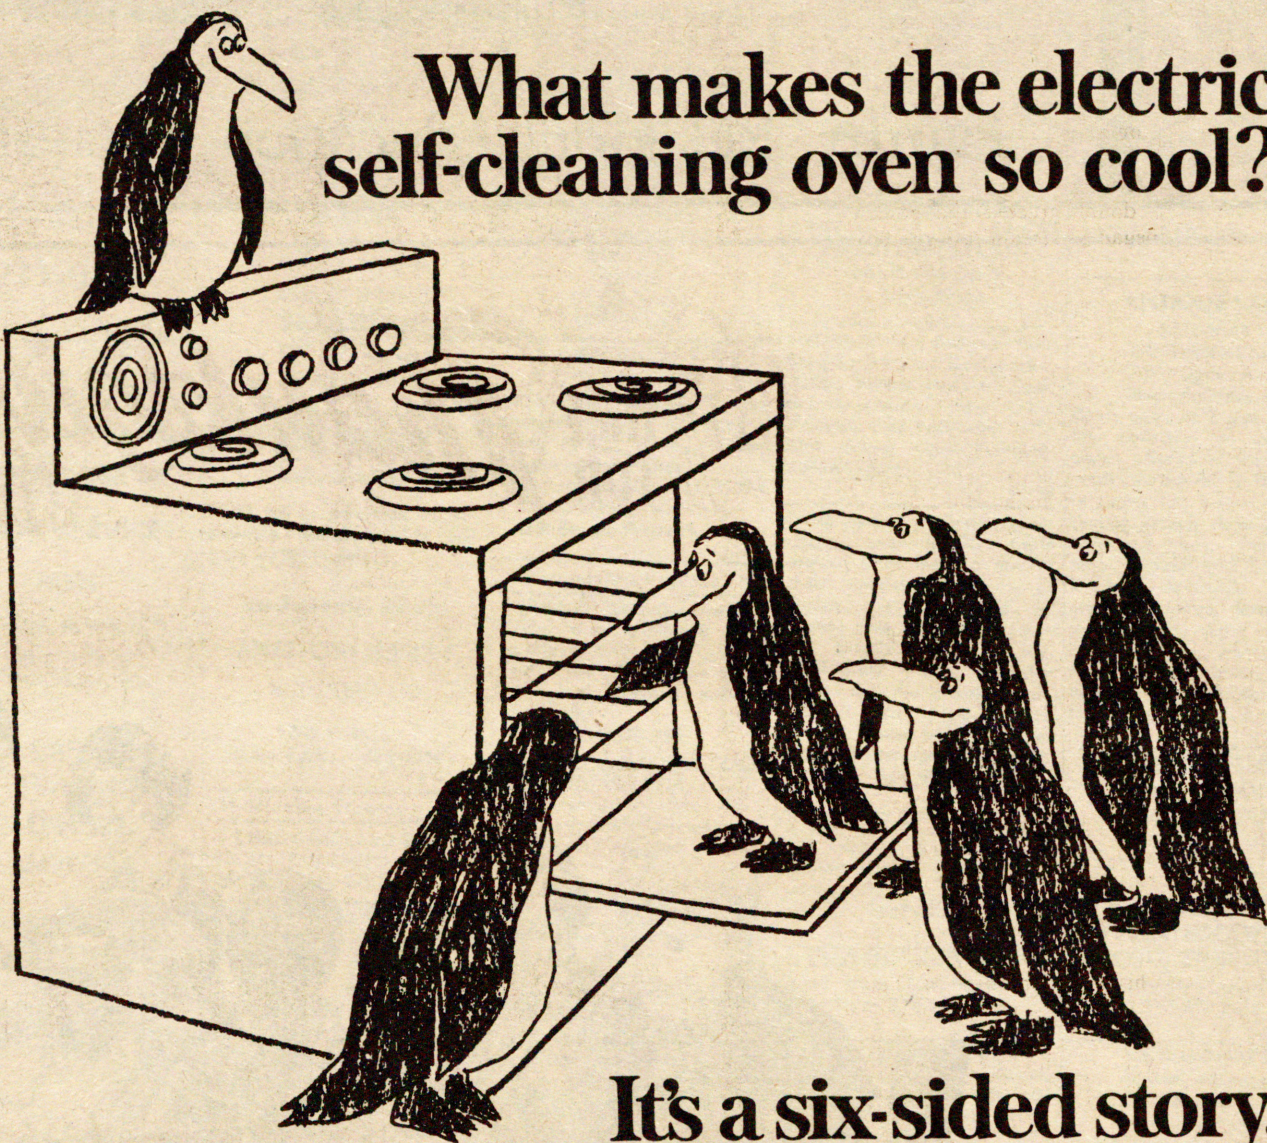

During 1968, the banks maintained their leadership in agricultural credit services. The increased use of credit by farmers, according to Myron Heins, association president, has been accompanied by a substantial gain in the total assets of farm families. Therefore, in the aggregate, the equity position of farmers, contrary to public opinion, is being maintained at a satisfactory level.

Heins stressed the importance of farmers and bankers working closely together to improve farm financial arrangements. He reported that nine out of ten insured banks throughout the country had agricultural loans outstanding, with nearly 86 per cent of the banks in Illinois extending credit to farm people.

Colorful Kitchen

Cheer up your mornings by making your kitchen breakfast area more colorful suggests the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association. Paint your table and chairs snappy shades of red, blue, green, yellow or orange. Put your personal stamp on your work by painting flowers or bright abstract designs on the backs of the chairs. Even the legs and spindles of the chairs can be individualized. Band blue chairs in red or white, green chairs in yellow. If you can't decide on a color scheme, let each member of the family choose his favorite and paint each chair a different color!

What makes the electric self-cleaning oven so cool?

It's a six-sided story.

Insulation is the secret. Only the electric self-cleaning oven is insulated on all six sides. So the heat stays inside.

Your kitchen stays cooler, whether the oven is baking a cake, or cleaning itself. And because heat and moisture stay in, meats come out juicier; cakes more moist.

Baking or broiling is faster, too, because less pre-heating is needed.

But the electric self-cleaning oven story doesn't stop at six-sided insulation. The electric kind is also more thorough. Why, it even cleans its own broiler!

Cool kitchens have an electric self-cleaning oven. How about yours?

History Graces Rustic Mill

By EDITH ROBERTS

"This love of visiting and contemplating places filled with local impressions, generated by the events and doings of our forefathers, is one of the strongest and purest feelings of our nature, and one which we wish to foster with warm-hearted interest."

Saying by an anonymous Philadelphian, 1830

It was on a summer's morning in 1852 when Fred Graue, builder of the Graue Mill, turned the wheel to open the sluice gates. One may imagine the cheer that went up, as water from Salt Creek flowed into the mill-race, and the huge wooden waterwheel began to run officially for the first time.

One may imagine, too, the concern on the part of the professional millwright, hired all the way from New York to install the mill machinery, as he watched the complex of ponderous wooden gearwheels creak into action -- offering then, as now, a perfect lesson in gear ratio.

And one may imagine a second cheer, as miller Graue fed the first measure of grain into the hopper above the spinning buhrstones -- over a ton apiece in weight -- which everyone knew had been imported from France at great effort and expense. And a third cheer no doubt greeted the golden cornmeal as it began to stream into the box below (a fascinating process which the present-day visitor is still privileged to observe).

That day so long ago was an important event, not only for the Graue family, but for all of the farmers in the rich countryside surrounding the rural Village of Brush Hill (Hinsdale). The gristmill was an indispensable unit in the economy of that far-off era.

Miller Graue, still a young man of thirty-three, must have viewed his handiwork with pride not unmixed with relief that all the strenuous labors of the past five years were over.

For it had taken five long years, from 1847 to 1852, to excavate the 28 by 45 foot cellar; to quarry the limestone for foundation and trim; to mold and bake the rosy red brick from clay taken out of his own farm; to fell the white oak timber along the Illinois and Michigan Canal near Lemont, haul it to Hinsdale, hew and erect the heavy doweled posts and mortised beams, and even to fashion the wooden pegs which secured them; and to erect the substantial three-story mill building itself.

Miller Graue probably looked back even further to all that had led up to this memorable day -- to his boyhood home in Hanover, Germany; his long, stormy voyage across the sea to America, and his trek to Du Page County in Illinois; his pioneering venture -- in partnership with William Asche, a fellow-Hanoverian -- in a sawmill on this very site.

He must have vividly recalled standing with his partner amid the ashes of their log mill, vowing to rebuild. Only this time it would not be a sawmill made of logs, because lumbering days were numbered; but a gristmill constructed of brick and stone to serve the opening farmlands.

Since that day, Fred Graue had bought his partner out, and so now he was the sole owner of this beautiful, brand new gristmill, which was destined to continue in the Graue family for the next three generations and to serve the community well for the ensuing sixty years.

It was on a spring day in 1950, ninety-eight years after that summer's day in 1852, that a society dedicated to restoring Americana saved the Old Graue Mill from ruin when they organized the non-for-profit Du-Page Graue Mill Corporation.

Today, the Mill, fully restored, is the only operating waterwheel gristmill in the State of Illinois. It annually gives pleasure and instruction to many thousands of children and adults.

Members of the Corporation conceived a new use for the two upper floors, formerly the granary. Through gifts and purchase, they have acquired an outstanding collection of historical objects from the period 1840-1885. Equally as outstanding as the exhibits themselves, is the manner in which they are presented.

Thus, after viewing the basic milling process (explained by a white-aproned miller, always in attendance), and browsing among the Civil War relics on the ground floor, the visitor climbs the broad wooden stair to find himself abruptly in an old-fashioned barn, fully equipped even to hay in the loft! Here is a handsome two-seated sleigh which might have been driven right out of a print by Currier and Ives, while hanging from a beam is the harness, jingle bells and all.

A stroll through this nostalgic barn, with its antiquated equipment and many quaint vehicles and farm implements, leads to another stair, up which the visitor climbs into pure enchantment.

For here he is immediately confronted with a Child's room, where a group of quaint dolls are sitting about, as though expecting some little girl to come in and serve them with Cambric tea. Next, a colorful Victorian drawing-room which looks as though a Jane Austen heroine might have glided across its rose-sprinkled carpet just a moment before.

Two Early American rooms lure the visitor on: the kitchen, with its cast-iron cookstove and utensils, its corner cupboard filled with antique china and glass, and its cozy family bathtub; the sitting room where someone might have risen from the spinning wheel so recently that the old high-back chair is still rocking.

And no one departs from this unusual museum without inspecting the Old Country Store, where genuine rock candy and horehound drops tempt the tongue, while high-button shoes and higher starched collars astonish the eye. In fact, the Country Store is so realistic one might also hear echoes of gossip around its cracker-barrel.

Visitors are cordially invited to step into an "American Yesterday" at the Old Graue Mill and Museum in Oak Brook, Illinois, just eighteen miles from the heart of Chicago!

The Mill will be open for the 1970 season beginning in May. At that time persons can make inquiries as to hours and schedules by writing The Old Graue Mill and Museum at P.O. Box 293, Hinsdale, Illinois. Hours from mid-May to late October are 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. all days.

Electric Heating Panel Is New, Clean, Quiet

If you are building a new home or remodeling an old one, you're probably wondering what type of heating system would best suit your needs.

The 3M Company has developed a new type of electric heating system that incorporates heating panels mounted on the ceiling.

What makes this system unique? The ceiling mounted electric radiant heating panels work in conjunction with a central air conditioning system. The system is cleaner which eliminates daily dusting and annual painting of interiors.

Because the air conditioning system can be placed in an attic, the elements are quieter than a forced air system. And because they are thermostatically controlled, each room can be adjusted individually. The panel system eliminates floor vents and wall grates, thus permitting easier furniture and drapery arrangement.

Heat is developed by electrical resistance in a non-metallic material permanently sealed in the panel's surface. As electricity passes through this enclosed material, radiant, sun-like warmth flows from the panel.

For air conditioning, duct work is run from air conditioning equipment mounted in the attic to the back of each heating panel. A simple plastic hood is secured over the duct and panel directing the cool air down and around the edges of the panel.

Thus, the system achieves even cooling in each room and eliminates the gusts of cold air in certain parts of the room, as in other cooling systems. In the panel system, heat sources are placed at "point of need" in each room -- above windows, doors and along outside walls -- the perimeter areas where heat loss is the greatest.

The perimeter heating system is adaptable to any size room. With the system, remodeling and decorating costs are lowered considerably, because it is cleaner than other forms of electric heating.

Draperies last longer because there is no direct heat source at their base.

House Plants Can Bring You Color, Pleasure

Now is the time for the home gardener to bring the joy of summer flowers indoors by growing house plants. In midwinter, the pleasure of live, colorful plants can be immeasurable.

House plants are usually easy to care for if properly selected. All plants need light.

Plants that do well in two to five hours of direct sun are: fibrous rooted or wax begonia, caladium, coleus, dumbcane, tree ivy, rubber plant, fiddleleaf fig, English ivy, impatiens, aluminum plant, artillery plant, mother's-in-law tongue, and the Australian umbrella tree.

Plants requiring more than five hours of sun per day include: painted copper leaf, tuberous-rooted begonias, shrimp plant, caladium, and the petunia.

Many of the plants that do well in two to five hours of sunlight do even better with longer hours in the sun and some tolerate no direct sun, but just bright light. Two precautions that are advisable to follow are -- don't overwater and over-fertilize, and don't underwater and under-fertilize.

According to the Cooperative Extension Service, University of Illinois, the correct amount is a difficult question to answer, since the container, plant, soil mix, humidity, temperature all affect the amount of water and fertilizer required.

A general rule to follow when watering house plants that are grown in a clay pot, with a soil mix that's 1/3 soil, 1/3 peat moss, and 1/3 sand, and a humidity of 40 per cent and temperature of 68 to 72 per cent, is to water when the surface feels dry to the touch.

Allow water to come through the bottom of the pot, but do not let water run-off remain in saucer more than an hour after watering. Fertilizing house plants should be done every other week when the plants are growing actively, and only once a month if the plant is not active. Fertilizer should be soluble in water and applied when plant requires watering.

If your child can say "emergency" teach him to say it to the Operator.

Dialing Zero for help in an emergency is so simple a child can do it. And so important, every child should learn how.

Here are three hints to help you teach your child how to get help if he ever needs it:

First, don't hand him the receiver. Let him pick it up himself, the way he would in a real emergency.

Second, while you hold down the receiver button, teach him how to dial the Operator.

Third, tell him to speak directly into the mouthpiece, clearly and slowly, giving his name, address, and phone number. This part is most important so it might be a good idea to phone a friend so they can listen to your child repeat his message.

We feel it's important for your child to know how to get help from the Operator when he needs it.

And we hope he never needs it.  Illinois Bell

Hunters Warned On Date

A portion of the Des Plaines Conservation Area will be closed to hunting until Dec. 1, according to the Illinois Department of Conservation.

The closed area is east of Interstate Rt. 55 and north of the Wilmington or River Road. It is bordered on the east by the Joliet Arsenal. The closure does not affect the part of the Des Plaines Area open to public pheasant hunting by permit from Nov. 15 through Dec. 7.

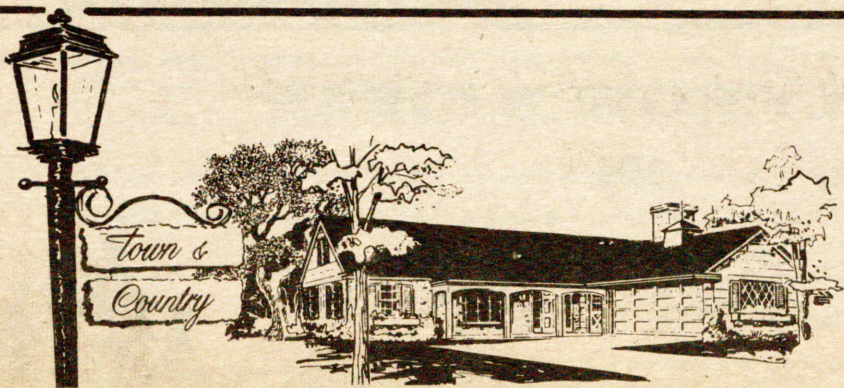

"Canada geese migrating through northern Illinois feed in picked corn and winter wheat fields in this location," Tom Evans, supervisor of game, explained. "The number of birds that use the area has increased slowly over the years and department game biologists believe that more geese will stop if they are not harassed."

Quail, pheasants, rabbits and Hungarian partridge hunting will be permitted on this area from Dec. 1 until the end of the scheduled seasons for these species.

We're a lot more than just talk.

First Feast 3-Days Long

In the United States and Canada, a day is set aside each year as Thanksgiving Day. On this day, people give thanks with feasting and prayer for the blessings they may have received during the year. The First Thanksgiving days were harvest festivals or days off thanking God for plentiful crops. For this reason the holiday still takes place late in the fall after the crops have been gathered. For thousands of years, people in many lands have held harvest festivals. The American Thanksgiving Day probably grew out of the harvest-home celebrations of England.

Before 1600, some of the Puritans decided that they could not reform the Church of England from within. They separated from the church and set up congregations for their own. These persons became known as Separatists. One group of Separatists, under the leadership of William Brewster, met in the village of Scrooby. English officials persecuted them, and, in 1608, they fled from England and settled in Leiden, Holland.

But the Separatists preferred farming to city life. They were afraid their children would be more Dutch than English. And they feared a war between Holland and Spain. They longed to return to their English way of life, yet to keep their own kind of worship. The new land of America appealed to them, and some English merchants agreed to finance a trip to America. In July, 1620, Brewster led a group of Separatists back to England. In September, they set sail for America in the Mayflower. They dropped anchor in what is now Provincetown harbor on Nov. 21, 1620.

The term Pilgrim may come from William Bradford's history. He wrote that "They knew they were pilgrims" when they left Holland.

The First New England Thanksgiving. The first American Thanksgiving was celebrated less than a year after the Plymouth colonists had settled in the new land. The first dreadful winter in Massachusetts had killed nearly half the members of the colony. But new hope grew up in the summer of 1621. The corn harvest brought rejoicing. Governor William Bradford decreed that a three day feast be held.

The first Thanksgiving Day, set aside for the special purpose of prayer as well as celebration, was decreed by Governor Bradford for July 30, 1623.

The women of the colony spent many days preparing for the feast. The children helped by turning roasts on spits in front of open fires. Indians brought wild turkeys and venison. The men of the colony brought geese, ducks and fish. The women served the meat and fish with journey cake, corn meal bread with nuts, and succotash. Everyone ate outdoors at big tables.

Later Thanksgiving Days in the United States. The custom of Thanksgiving Day spread from Plymouth to other New England colonies. During the Revolutionary War, eight special days of thanks were observed for victories and for being saved from dangers. On Nov. 26, 1789, President George Washington issued a general proclamation for a day of thanks. In the same year, the Protestant Episcopal Church announced that the first Thursday in November would be a regular yearly day for giving thanks, "unless another day be appointed by the civil authorities."

For many years, there was no regular national Thanksgiving Day in the United States. Some states had a yearly Thanksgiving holiday, and others did not. But, by 1830, New York had an official state Thanksgiving

Day and other northern states soon followed its example. Virginia was the first southern state to adopt the custom. It proclaimed a Thanksgiving Day in 1855.

Mrs. Sarah Joseph Hale, the editor of Godey's Lady's Book, worked for many years to promote the idea of a national Thanksgiving Day. Then President Lincoln proclaimed the last Thursday in November, 1863, as "a day of thanksgiving and praise to our beneficent Father."

Each year afterward, for 75 years, the President of the United States formally proclaimed that Thanksgiving Day should be celebrated on the last Thursday of November. But, in 1939, President Roosevelt set it one week earlier. He wanted to help business by lengthening the shopping period before Christmas. Congress finally ruled that, after 1941, the fourth Thursday of November would be observed as Thanksgiving Day and would be a legal federal holiday.

Thanksgiving Day in Canada is celebrated in much the same way as in the United States. It was formerly celebrated on the last Monday in October. But in 1957, the Canadian government proclaimed the second Monday in October for the holiday.

(From World Book Encyclopedia)

FALL IS BEHIND and with it the days of tall corn and the rosy sun sinking behind the waiving tassels and stalks. Rural fields are barren but in only a few months will give forth new life with the nudge and touch of the farmers' care. Thanksgiving is the time to remember all our bounty.

Ready Mower For Storage

Proper servicing of outdoor gasoline engine powered equipment should be done at regular intervals, if you intend to get the most benefits from your investment.

Fast starts, a smooth-running engine, a well-manicured lawn or productive garden, and long operating life are worth it -- don't you think!

Now, here are a few time-ly tips on what you at least should do before the snow flakes fly.

First, if you have equipment that permits use of various attachments, and you will be hooking up a snow-plow or snow blowing attachment, you should get your equipment to a servicing dealer now for a complete check-out.

By doing it now, you'll gain two big advantages. Your mower will be ready to roll as soon as the first blades of new grass sprout next year. Also, you won't get caught in the "it-happens-every-Spring" servicing traffic jam.

Give yourself and your dealer a break. Get your mower serviced now, and then take these steps prior to storage.

1. Completely drain fuel from engine to prevent gum deposits from forming on vital carburetor parts, fuel filter, and in fuel lines and tank. Check your owner's manual on how to do it right.

2. Next drain your carburetor and crankcase lubrication oil according to the procedures discussed in your owner's manual.

3. Remove spark plug. Pour recommended type oil in the amount suggested in your manual, into cylinder through plug opening. Crank engine slowly with spark plug removed to distribute oil over cylinder walls. Once preceding is accomplished, install new spark plug ready for next year's use.

4. Clean dirt and grass clippings from engine cylinder, cylinder head fins, and blower housing.

5. Clean all grass accumulation from underside of mower.

6. Clean air filter per your owner's manual.

7. Check blade condition. Replace bent or badly out-of-balance blades that could damage engine. Might as well start next season with a sharp blade.

8. To prevent rusting, cover all bare metal parts with grease, such as the edge of the cutting blade.

Keep Order

Drawer dividers simplify finding the right color socks, handkerchiefs and other items in a dresser.

To make splinter-free drawer dividers, get some 1/8" Masonite Duolux, a smooth - two - sides hard-board, at a lumber yard and cut into the size strips needed. Notch the strips like an egg carton divider so they'll fit together at the slots.

Lightly file the corners and edges.

Such dividers are useful also in drawers of dressing tables and kitchen tables.

Give Tips To Prolong Finishes Of Appliances

Household appliances are chosen not only for their timesaving efficiency, but for their attractive lines and brightly colored surface finishes. Today you can buy a freezer in ice blue, a refrigerator in snow-white, a washer in sea green, a dryer in desert-beige and a range -- well, in a range of colors!

Whether your appliances are creamy white, avocado green or plum purple, they deserve a certain amount of care to maintain their handsome appearance.

The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association advises that any spills on appliance surfaces be wiped up immediately. And, since dirt and grease may stain or discolor a finish, you should wash the appliance surface thoroughly at regular intervals. Be sure to use only mild soap and water for washing -- not an abrasive cleaning compound which might mar the finish. Wipe the surface dry with a soft, lint-free cloth.

To give the finish additional brilliance you can wax or polish it -- using only products specifically recommended by the appliance manufacturer.

Since hot pots and pans, knives and other sharp surfaces can seriously damage a finish, care should be taken to avoid letting such objects come in direct contact with your appliances. Keep an asbestos tray next to your cooking area and ironing board so that you won't be tempted to place hot articles on your range or washing machine.

If an appliance finish should become accidentally marred, there are steps you can take to repair the damage. Slight mars and scratches that do not cut through to the metal can sometimes be buffed out by using an extra-fine, automotive enamel-type rubbing compound.

These compounds are available in reputable hardware, auto supply and appliance stores, and should be used carefully. It is easy to mar the finish if too much pressure is applied when buffing. Wax the buffed surface with a quality product recommended by the manufacturer of your appliance.

For more serious nicks and scratches, touch-up kits can often be purchased from the service department of the appliance manufacturer. These paints have been formulated for use on specific surfaces and will provide the best color match for your appliance. Quality "touch-up enamels" are also available at reputable hardware, auto supply and appliances stores for do-it-yourself repair jobs.

You may choose from aerosol sprays, "stick" applicators, or small bottles with brush applicators -- whichever best suits your job. Be sure to carefully read the label directions and follow them to the letter!

It's a good idea to test a small patch of the touch-up finish on an inconspicuous area of your appliance.

DRESS THEM WARMLY for winter's cold gusts, but do it in style. The little gypsies of your household can look as pretty as big gypsies. Odds and ends patch together into this brightly colored cotton patchwork jumper. It's with a long-sleeved blouse strewn with tiny flowers. A satin band and bow gives accent.

Locker At Home Helps Youngsters

A locker similar to those used in schools is an ideal place for children to keep coats, books, and playthings at home.

Such a locker should be 36 inches wide, 50 inches high, and 18 inches deep. Sides, back, and top should be constructed of Masonite hardboard panels fastened to 1 x 2-inch wood framing. A matchstick drop front conceals contents from view. Six-inch tapered legs give the locker a custom-made appearance.

Interior of the locker should be lined with Peg-Board panels that support hooks and shelf brackets. A clothes bar at the top permits coats and jackets to be hung neatly on hangers, while a piece of tempered hardboard at the bottom enables moisture to be wiped up quickly.

Prime and paint the locker to blend in with the background. If several youngsters use the unit, paint shelves different colors to show where each child's belongings go.

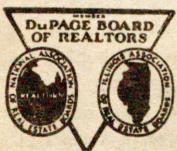

Home Fires Expensive

While spectacular fires in business or industrial areas cause headlines, fires in residences account for more than 25 per cent of the nation's total fire damage.

YOUR BATHROOM fixtures are used more than perhaps anything else in the home. That's why it pays to buy the best. If you're planning to remodel your bathroom or add a bathroom or powder room, keep in mind that top-quality fixtures are easier to keep clean and retain their luster longer. The quality water closet is quieter too.

Hunting Vision Errors Can Be Brought To End

Hunters! Be sure of what you see. Be sure you are seen.

Approximately 300 hunters will make the wrong kill this year. The victims will be their fellow hunters. Other hunters will injure some 2,000 of their companions and will needlessly slaughter thousands of domestic animals.

Those who care about bringing themselves and their companions back alive can do their part to make the sport safe with just a few simple precautions.

The first and most important step is a vision examination. "A hunter's decision to squeeze the trigger is influenced primarily by what he sees, or thinks he sees," Floyd Mizener, O.D., president of the Illinois Optometric Association says. "The quality of his vision is a key factor."

According to the National Rifle Association, three of the major causes of hunting tragedies are directly related to vision. Typically, these accidents occur when the victim is out of sight of the shooter, when the victim is covered by a shooter swinging on game, or when the victim is mistaken for game.

The hunter should make certain his lenses are the safety or heat-tempered type. Actually, the hunter's eyes are safer with glasses because cartridge cases can explode, sending gas, powder or bits of metal into the shooter's face. Even hunters who need no vision correction should wear protective lenses for protection.

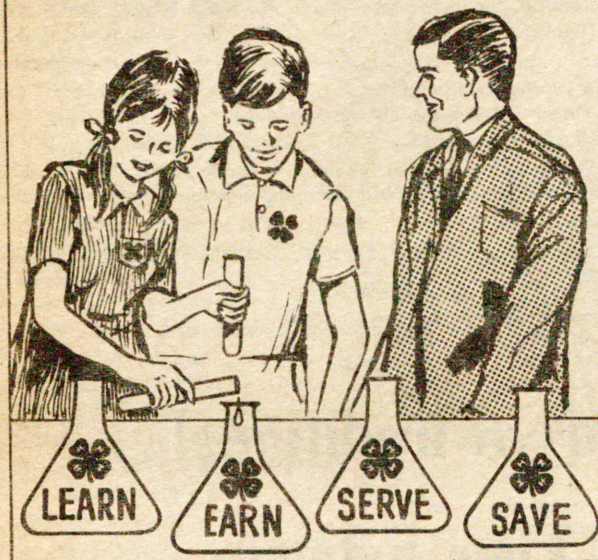

The American Optometric Association, in an informative pamphlet "Vision and Hunting," outlines six skills a hunter should possess.

The traditional hunting color red is no longer recommended because of the color-blind factor and because it becomes difficult to see at dusk, the Illinois Optometric Association says.

Every hunter knows the ability to see under a variety of lighting and weather conditions is a must. Dr. Mizener suggests good prescription safety sunglasses for the hunter who is bothered with glare. The lenses should provide a maximum of glare absorption and a minimum of color distortion. Gray or smoke tints distort colors the least.

By following the basic rules of firearms safety and by being sure of his ability to see and hopefully to be seen, a hunter can be a better sportsman.

Computers Assisting In Real Estate Service

Keeping in tune with the times the Network Corporation again leads the way in real estate services to their customers. "Specialization and computerization" have become the key words according to Allen L. Webster, president of this aggressive real estate firm.

In order to better service investment property buyers and sellers, the Webster Division of The Network Corporation has converted the Glen Ellyn office at 646 Roosevelt Road into a DuPage County Commercial investment office. The divisions for residential real estate in DuPage County are now located at 221 S. Main Street in Wheaton; 225 S. Washington Street in Naperville; 300 N. York in Elmhurst; serving the DuPage County communities listed below.

In addition to the specialized personnel staffing the DuPage Commercial and Investment Division at Glen Ellyn, each residential office will have one or more trained consultants in the commercial and investment field. This plan will continue to keep the real estate firm on top of the entire DuPage County market.

Hand in hand with this new approach, The Network Corporation has inaugurated a computerized investment property analysis service and investment properties with other investment realtors throughout the United States.

Investment property owners or prospective purchasers may make appointments with Allan Webster, Jean Leverenz, Paul Morris, Robert Bergstrom or Edwin Berndt for a computer analysis of their current real estate portfolio in relation to their tax position, cash flow, return on equity or other information they wish to project for a period of less than one year or up to ten or more years.

For appointments call: The Glen Ellyn investment office 469-2266; Wheaton office 653-5500; Naperville office 355-1751, Elmhurst office 833-9200.

The following communities are served: Elmhurst, Villa Park, Oak Brook (Oak Brook Terrace), Lombard, Glen Ellyn, Wheaton, Winfield, West Chicago, Glen Dale Heights, Carol Stream, Warrenville, Naperville, Lisle, Woodridge, Addison, Bensenville, Wooddale, Roselle, Itasca, Bloomingdale, Wayne.

STRUGGLE IS DIFFERENT

Too Much To Be Thankful For?

By Jean Rouse

The settlers who originated Thanksgiving Day began the custom because they were truly thankful. Their blessing would seem to us to be mighty little. But since half their group died that first year in the effort to begin a new existence, the fact that these few were still alive, had some sort of shelter and anything at all to eat gave cause to be truly and deeply grateful to their God. They had faced a struggle just to exist. They were thankful that some of them had won.

We face a different struggle.

And in our efforts to "get ahead" sometimes we lose sight of the fact that we too have much to be thankful for.

I was raised by a "thankful" mother. If that sounds odd, let me explain. As a girl, my mother had considerable money. She had a college education, not common for women in her day. She began her marriage with confidence. Then, her husband's health broke. The rest of their lives together always held illness and being down-right broke.

However, there was some of that "pioneer" spirit deep inside this gently brought-up woman. Their troubles, she always said, were never anybody's fault -- they just happened. She was "thankful" for that. When she didn't have grocery money, we had bread and milk for supper -- and she was "so thankful" we had that. When she couldn't buy clothes for her child, she made over the family hand-me-downs. And she was "thankful" she knew how to do it. What's more, she convinced me they were something special. If the weather was bad, she was always "so thankful" for her warm little house. What's important about all this is that she really meant it. She made the most of very little and she enjoyed it. She made a home for which my father and I were "thankful".

Today, we still face a struggle. Poverty, human relations, and all the rest. If we stop to think and take time to look, the "pioneer" remains down deep in us, to be used in our own elemental struggle. Finding it means taking time, not just on Thanksgiving Day, but often, to look at what we have and what we have accomplished, and then say truly and sincerely, "I'm thankful."

Turkey Roasting Will Go Smoothly If You Make Preparations Carefully

By Georgia

Turkey-roasting time again! To help you in this usually once-a-year endeavor, we've collected a few timely tips for your roasting pleasure. Here's to your best bird ever.

Before You Buy:

Start by estimating the number of servings (and the number of meals) you'd like to get from your turkey. Choose your bird accordingly: a 16-18 pound bird yields about 20 servings; a six to eight pound bird, about ten. Most turkeys, these days are frozen and ready to cook so you won't have to worry about cutting off its head or removing the viscera. (But don't forget to remove the giblets from the cavity before stuffing!)

Preparation:

A frozen turkey needs time to thaw. Keep it in its wrapping to retain maximum moisture and let it thaw at its leisure (and yours) in the refrigerator: about 12 hours for a small turkey; 24 hours for a large one. Remove the giblets, wash under cold running water, inside and out. Look it over and pull out any pin feathers that may remain.

Seasoning:

Sprinkle the turkey skin and cavities with seasoned salt, lightly, ever so lightly, if desired. Now you're ready to stuff the bird with your favorite stuffing recipe. Allow a generous three-fourths cup of stuffing per pound of ready-to-cook weight. Spoon in stuffing but do not pack.

You may shake the bird to settle the stuffing. Close openings by placing skewers across and lacing shut with cord, or you can "sew it up" with cat gut or such with a large needle. Tie drumsticks securely to tail. Rub the entire turkey with butter and the bird is ready to roast.

Roasting Hints

Roasting chart for whole turkey. Set oven at 325° degrees. Times are for stuffed, chilled turkeys; and are approximate only.

Ready-to-cook weight Time (before stuffing)

4-8 lbs.	3 1/4 - 4 1/4 hrs.
8-12 lbs.	4 1/4 - 5 1/2 hrs.
12-16 lbs.	5 1/2 - 6 1/4 hrs.
16-20 lbs.	6 1/4 - 8 1/4 hrs.
20-24 lbs.	8 1/4 - 10 1/2 hrs.

About 15 to 30 minutes before the time is up according to the roasting chart, test doneness by moving the drumstick up and down. The leg joint should give readily, or break. Or, press the thick part of the drumstick. (Protect fingers with a paper towel.) Meat is done if it feels very soft. If you use meat thermometer, it should register 165 degrees when it is inserted in the stuffing or 200 degrees when inserted in the thigh. Carving will be easier and slices will be neater.

Stuffing Suggestions

Warning: Poultry should be stuffed just before roasting. After the meal is served, remove any remaining stuffing from its cavity and refrigerate it separately.

Bread Stuffing

- 2 large onions
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine

- 3 quarts soft bread crumbs
- 1/2 cup water or giblet broth
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 2 teaspoons of salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1 tablespoon poultry seasoning

Chop onions fine; cook in butter or margarine until soft but not brown. Add remaining ingredients; mix thoroughly. Makes enough to stuff a 12 pound bird.

Variations

Apple: (for ducklings or goose) Substitute bacon or sausage fat for butter. Add two cups of finely chopped tart apples.

Oyster: Substitute oyster liquor for water. Add two to three cups of chopped oysters.

Giblet: Use giblet broth instead of water. Add finely chopped giblets.

Mushroom: Use mushroom liquor from can, instead of water. Add two cans (3 ounces each) mushroom stems and pieces.

Soft bargain.

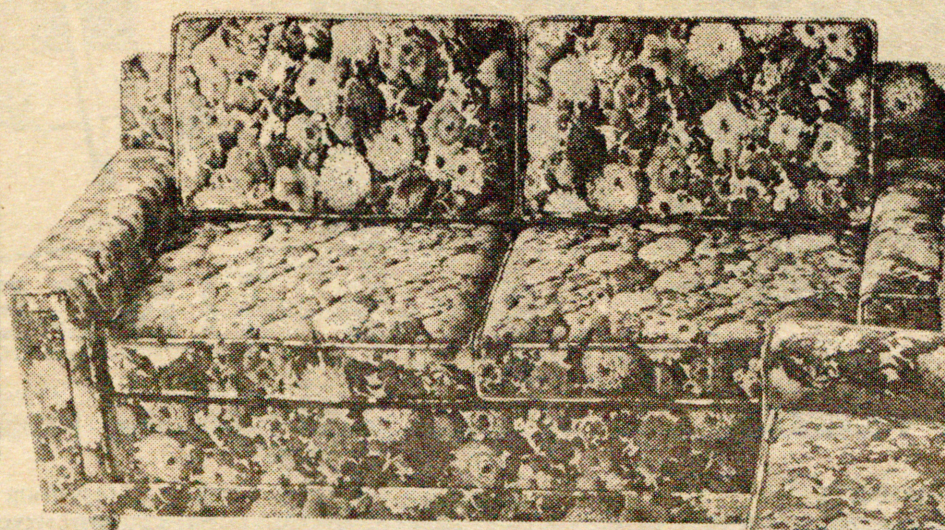

Run your fingers over this. Deep, luxurious hand-guided outline quilting looks rich, feels rich, but doesn't increase the price of the sofa one penny. It just increases the value.

Save your back. Roll-worthy Shepherd casters like this make this splendid upholstered furniture a cinch to move and a joy to decorate with, even on wall-to-wall carpet.

A h h h h. Six nice plump pillows to sink back in. And they're all loose, seat and back.

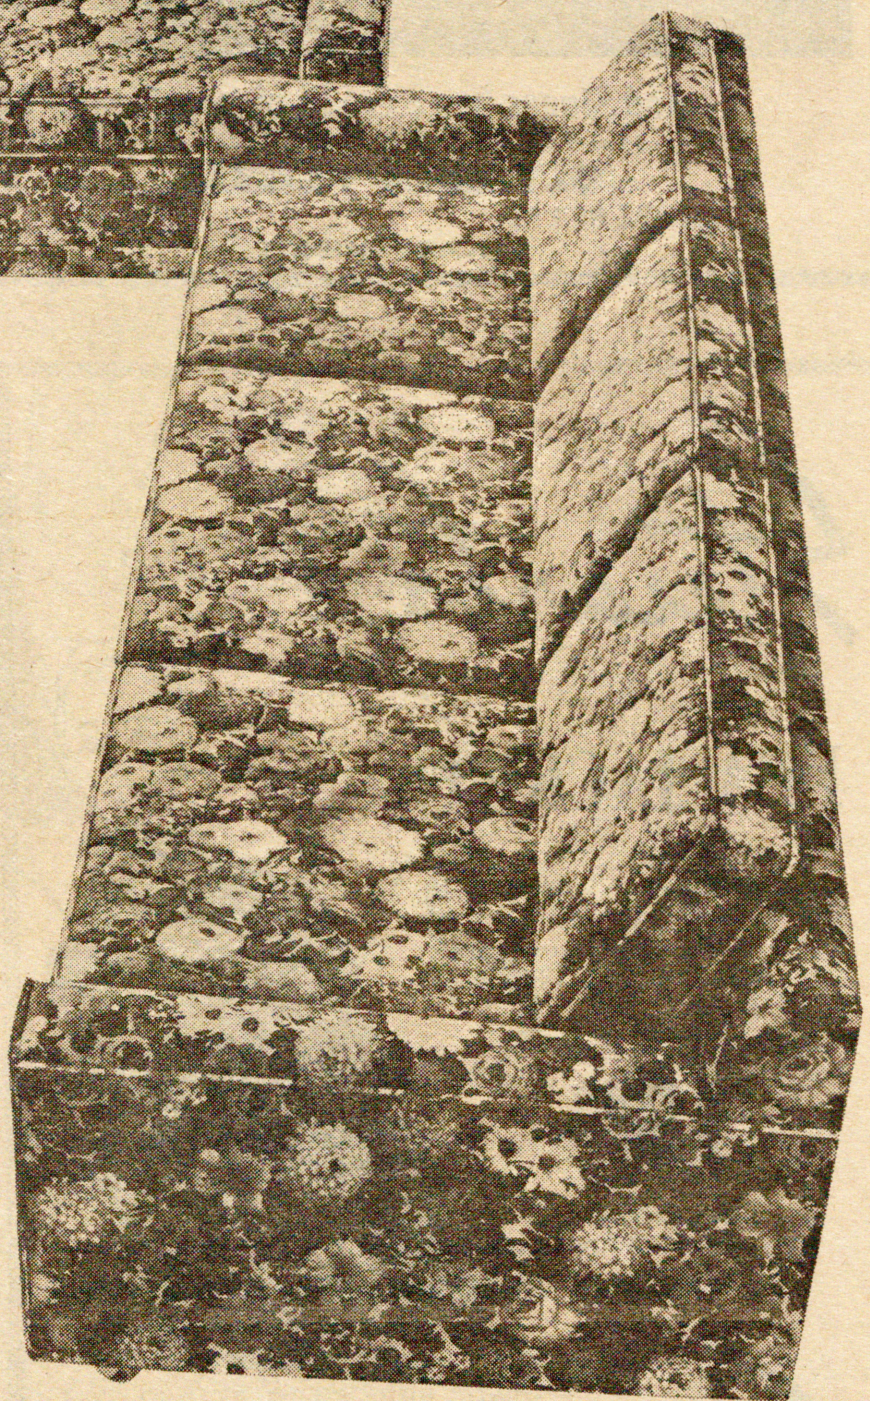

Get 8 great feet of quilted Kroehler sofa for just $199.

Sit pretty. Very pretty.

This fine sofa and love seat combine the functional lines of contemporary styling with the traditional richness of quilted luxury. Each is magnificently constructed on a coil spring base...and a great bargain. The sofa, at just $199 now, saves you about $100. If you'd like to sit a little closer together, the 62" love seat is yours for only $169—saving you about $80. A small down-payment delivers either one, and you can take two years to pay the balance. Now doesn't that feel good?

Henry M. Goodman makes you comfortable.

$7,136 For 205

LOCKPORT -- The Lockport Township High School District 205 has been informed by Herbert Baker, director of Program Development for Gifted Children for the Office of Public Instruction, that they have been granted $7,136 for their project.

These state funds will be used for the development and implementation of a program consisting of, "Computer Assisted Calculus for Academically Talented Students." Charles Beseman, mathematics department chairman at Central, will serve as project director. Kenneth Webster, director of special projects, negotiated the program with state officials.

The basic objectives of the project are to present academically talented students the opportunity to use a digital computer system to assist them in school work, while gaining a greater knowledge of the computerized work of today.

Students will also gain increased knowledge of computer limitations and capabilities, numerical analysis in calculus, and application of the computer to other courses.

Decorations Contest Told In Lemont Twp.

LEMONT--Putting Christmas decorations on your home this year? The Lemont Chamber of Commerce is offering an incentive to do a good job through a new Christmas Home Decoration project.

Robert Gorski, president of the chamber, said that this will be the first year of the program, which will choose the best-decorated homes in Lemont Township.

The chamber board of directors authorized the plan late this summer, he said. They hope the contest will generate an increasing number of home decorations in successive years.

Any home within the limits of Lemont Township is eligible. Three impartial judges will inspect the entries and prizes will be awarded for the three homes picked as the most beautifully and originally decorated. First prize is $75, second prize $50 and third prize $25.

Judging will take place the evenings of Dec. 20, 21 and 23, but the visits will not be announced to homeowners who have entered.

The Southwest Graphic will publish pictures of the winning homes.

Dec. 10 is the deadline for registering for the contest.

Persons who intend to have decorations outdoors should enter by Dec. 10 by notifying the Lemont Chamber of Commerce in care of Rich Hancasky, 1150 State St., Lemont. Your name, address and phone number on a post card is requested.
